

Bankrupt America or Calling Out Ben Fulford!

By Anna von Reitz www.annavonreitz.com

I am sick of this constant --- and irresponsible --- rant that the "U.S. is the most indebted nation in history"---- which somehow neatly avoids the point that the "U.S." is not America and that America is the paramount security interest holder and Priority Creditor of not only the "U.S." --- meaning the profligate Municipal and Territorial Governments, but also all the corporations that have chartered under them.

America--- meaning the American states and people --- is the richest country on Earth and by far the greatest Creditor. America owns all the Territorial and Municipal Governments worldwide including CHINA and JAPAN.

And all the corporations that have been formed under the auspices of all these Territorial and Municipal Governments.

Try to think of a major commercial corporation that has not been chartered under the auspices of either a Territorial or Municipal Government worldwide? You will have a very hard time doing that, because the only other option is a Common Law Charter, and those haven't been commonly used since the 1700's.

This means that when America pulls the chain, the rest of the countries on this planet need to own up to their own debts to us --- not the "U.S." meaning the cesspool in the District of Columbia--- which is the responsibility of the Pope and the British Monarch.

A lot of people have been buying into this "Boo-Hoo! America is dead! America owes everyone money! America is bankrupt!" bull and the fact of the matter is that America is the Priority Creditor of the entire world.

It's the "U.S." that is bankrupt --- well and deservedly so --- and it is the problem of the British Monarch and the Pope that it is, because the "U.S." is now and always has been a separate and foreign entity from the American states and people, operated under the auspices of the British Government (Territorial United States) and Holy See (Municipal United States).

So if they owe China money, here's a wake-up call --- they owe us money, too, and a helluva lot more than they owe China. And we can still blow the planet sky-high if anyone really doubts that or wants to argue it.

Wake up, Ben. And wake up all your buddies in the White Dragon Society. You are dealing with three separate entities here on this continent --- two of which, the Territorial United States and the Municipal United States are bankrupt -- and one which is the Priority Creditor of the whole planet.

Now that you have that straight, go tell the Chinese and the Europeans and the Pope and the Queen and the World Bank and the World Court. Turns out that the lawful American Government still exists, albeit, operating primarily in the international jurisdiction of the land.

We have spent the past hundred years rebuilding the world and we have no wish to destroy it for the sake of debt, most of which is illusory anyway, but in the same token, we are not gilding any lilies and not allowing people to mistake us for the "U.S." anymore.

The American states and people have always been separate and sovereign entities and we are not responsible for the debts of the Territorial and Municipal United States.

We are instead their Priority Creditors.

The American Government is not the "U.S." Government and never has been.

Spread the word.
